Looks Like Jersey Governor Has Lost Only One State in East.

(Owensboro Messenger.)

The election of Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, as President, and Governor Thos. Marshall, of Indiana, as Vice President, by a safe majority, was a certainty early in the night, in complete returns from the country at large leaving small doubt as to the final outcome.

It became apparent early that the Democratic nominee had carried the "Solid South," as well as the impressive array of Eastern States. Before the returns from the country at large began to approach anything like completeness, the Republican and Progressive papers were conceding a sweeping Democratic victory in their respective cities and States.

Roosevelt Gets Illinois.

The most conspicuous exception to the general Wilson victory came in the form of returns from points in Illinois, where the Progressives early were conceded a victory.

Wilson Gets New Jersey.

Teddy Accepts His Defeat

With Entire Good Humor

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Shortly before midnight tonight, Col. Theodore Roosevelt made the following statement:

"The American people, by a great plurality, have decided in favor of Mr. Wilson and the Democratic party. Like all good citizens, I accept the result with entire good humor and contentment. As for the Progressive cause, I can only repeat what I have already so many times said, the fate of the leader for the time being is of little consequence, but the cause itself must in the end triumph, for its triumph is essential to the well being of the American people. (Signed)

THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

About the same time he issued his statement, Col. Roosevelt sent the following telegram to Gov. Wilson:

"The American people, by a great plurality, have conferred upon you the highest honor in their gift. I congratulate you thereon. (Signed) ted at 35,000 to 40,000 over Roosevelt. Taft, who ran third, polled a vote in New Jersey less than half of Gov. Wilson.

Owing to the length of the ballot, which delayed the counting beyond hope of complete returns before Wednesday. Florida was uncertain grounds as to the extent of Wilson's victory, but not as to the fact of it. It was estimated that the entire Democratic ticket won by a majority of 20,000.

With the annexing of Rhode Island to Wilson's column, by later returns, and with the closeness in New Hampshire, it seemed probable that New England entire, with the exception of Vermont, had gone for Wilson.

Massachusetts For Wilson.

For the first time in its history, Massachusetts will give its electoral vote to a Democrat. Both Massachusetts and New York elected Democratic Governors, Sulzer in New York, and Foss in Massachusetts.

By midnight both President Taft and Col. Roosevelt had conceded Gov. Wilson's election.

Early in the night there seemed small reason to doubt that Wilson would carry, besides the "Solid South," Connecticut, Delaware, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, West Virginia, Indiana, Montana, New Jersey and New Mexico, and later returns clinched the Democratic victory in these States.

President Taft Congratulates

Gov. Wilson on the Victory

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 5.—President Taft tonight sent telegram to Gov. Wilson and Chairman Hilles of the Republican national committee, as follows:

"Hon. Mr. Woodrow Wilson,
Princeton, N. J.:

"I cordially congratulate you on your election and extend to you my best wishes for a successful administration. (Signed)

WM. H. TAFT."

"Hon. Charles D. Hilles, Chairman Republican National Committee, Times Bldg., New York City:

"You have conducted a most difficult campaign in the face of unusual obstacles. I congratulate you heartily on the fight you have made, and I am deeply grateful to you for it.

(Signed) WM. H. TAFT."

WILSON'S CARRIES KENTUCKY 100,000.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 5.—With ninety counties of the 120 in Kentucky reported, indications point toward a plurality of more than 100,000 for Gov. Wilson in the Presidential election, while the Democrats have returned nine Democratic Congressmen. In the Tenth district incomplete returns show that John W. Langley, Republican, has a good lead over his Progressive opponent.

In the Eleventh district the fight between Caleb Powers for re-election and H. H. Seavy, Progressive is close, with the Bull Moose candidate claiming victory.

The showing made by the Progressive party surprised the Democratic and Republican leaders all over Kentucky.

In the Fifth district it was not until after the final returns were in that it was found that Swager Sherley, Democrat, had received a narrow plurality of 1,200 votes over H. I. Fox.

The Fifth district approximately gives Wilson 34,369, Roosevelt 23,914, Taft 3,554. For Congress, Swager Sherley 24,693; Ashcraft, Republican, 3,485; for Progressive, 23,477.

PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON

CLOVERPORT HOSTESS TO REPRESENTATIVE WOMEN OF THE METHODIST CHURCH, SOUTH

Meeting Brimful of Practical, Helpful and Inspiring Talks and Addresses. Charming Visitors in Attendance. Miss Davies
Holds Institute. All Departments Discussed.

"When I read in The Breckenridge News the advanced article about the missionary meeting, I wondered if it would come up to the way it was pictured," said the Rev. Mr. James H. Walker, pastor of the Methodist church of this city, Thursday evening and he concluded: "The meeting has been all and more than it was advertised." Mrs. Frank Fraize with enthusiasm remarked as the delegates stepped on the train for their homes, "The meeting has been great, far beyond my expectations." Expressions of delight and enjoyment were heard from all the delegates and the home people over the success of the annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Societies of the Owensboro District. It opened Wednesday morning and closed Thursday night. Mrs. A. L. Mell, district secretary, presided. She held the meeting well in hand and directed it so that, notwithstanding the time was limited, reports from all the delegates were heard and presentations of all departments of the work were given. Mrs. Mell said before coming, that the meeting felt welcome to Cloverport and after coming that the officers and delegates had been made to feel more welcome by the hospitality received and they all felt that they had well-come to Cloverport. Mrs. James Tague, secretary of the Cloverport Auxiliary, acted as secretary for the meeting and was one of the busiest women present.

The devotional services were lead by Mrs. H. A. Evans, the Louisville Conference President, Miss Tula Daniels, the Conference Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Walter J. Piggott, the Conference Fourth Vice President, and Mrs. V. G. Babbage, President of the Cloverport Auxiliary. The principal addresses were made by Mrs. Alice Hargrove Barclay, daughter of the late beloved Bishop Hargrove, Mrs. Bettie Whitehead, the Conference Recording Secretary, and Miss Daisy Davies, of Atlanta, Ga., one of the ten managers of the Board of Missions.

Reports From The Delegates.

The delegates present were: Mrs. J. L. Wagonest, of Stephensport, Mrs. Towers, of Owensboro, Mrs. Mary Powell, of Drakesboro, Mrs. Moore, of Owensboro, Mrs. Solesburg, of Central City, Mrs. Dexter, of Beaver Dam.

Mrs. Wagonest in her report said that the auxiliary at Stephensport had just been organized and that they were new and ignorant in the work. Mrs. Wagonest said that she had learned a great deal from the meeting and it was a wonderful help to her. She was the guest of Mrs. Roscoe Lashlee.

Mrs. Towers, of the Breckenridge Street Methodist church, a most earnest delegate at the meeting, said she never wanted to miss another. It had been one of deep inspiration to her and she would try hard to tell them at home the many good suggestions for the work that she had gathered here. Mrs. Lightfoot entertained Mrs. Towers.

Mrs. Moore, of the Settle Memorial of Owensboro, gave a splendid report from that church. The society there has both the Foreign and Home Departments well developed. She gave a lengthy list of plans of social service the society carried out with success and other notes of Home Mission work accomplished in Owensboro by the Woman's Missionary society of Settle Memorial. Mrs. Moore is an enthusiastic Home Mission woman and she was a delightful guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Skillman.

Miss Mary Powell, of Drakesboro, stayed with Mrs. John A. Ross. She was a young woman deeply interested in the work and went home anxious to organize a Foreign Department in the Auxiliary of their church, which is a strictly Home Mission society. If all the members of the Drakesboro society could have heard Mrs. Whitehead's address on Foreign Missions, they would not hesitate a minute to put in a Foreign Department in their society.

Mrs. Solesburg, of Central City, who represented "Brother Currie's church," was the pleasant guest of Mrs. Fred Fraize and had the biggest financial report given. The Central City society has both departments and the Home Mission women have been making payments on the new church.

Mrs. Dexter, the delegate of Beaver Dam, represented the Home Mission society of that place. It was organized two years ago without a Foreign Department which Mrs. Dexter hopes to organize soon. Mrs. Dexter was entertained by Mrs. Frank Fraize.

Mrs. C. Wickliffe Moorman was the delegate from the Cloverport society. She told how the pledge had been raised from $5 to $35 in last fifteen years, the time Mrs. Moorman has been treasurer. The Auxiliary will put in a Home Department Monday afternoon at the November meeting.

Mrs. Barclay's Address.

A most vivacious and original address on "The Religions of the World" was given by Mrs. Alice Hargrove Barclay Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Barclay is a most attractive speaker. She made every auxiliary feel the importance of a mission study class. She brought in a bit of philosophy that women must feel before they can act—they have to know before they can feel. They will never know or feel until they see or read. Mrs. Barclay told how to organize a mission study class. Don't begin with books difficult to read, at least, that seem difficult—until one gets interested in the countries across the seas. "The Days of June" is a lovely little book (for fifty cents) that will sow the seed for a Mission Study Class and lead women, old and young, to literature worth while. Mrs. Barclay went on until twilight fell, telling her charmed audience of much that was refreshing and convincing to the heart and mind. Mrs. Barclay was the charming guest of Mrs. Shelby Conrad.

Mrs. Whitehead's Address.

Mrs. Bettie Whitehead gave an address Wednesday night full of information on Foreign Missions. She told of the wonderful work done in India, Japan, Africa, Korea and other foreign fields. Her address was full of strength and stimulated one's desire to help those in heathen countries. Mrs. Whitehead supports a native minister in India. She was the guest of Mrs. Francis Marion Smith, who for many years has been one of the strongest Foreign Missionary women of Cloverport. After the address, Mrs. Whitehead, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Mell, Miss Daniel and Mrs. Babbage were presented with flowers by the Clover Blossoms: Misses

CASE AFTER CASE

Plenty More Like This In Cloverport.

Scores of Cloverport people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

L. V. Chapin, Cloverport, Ky., says: "I have used one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they did me a great deal of good. Last summer I was in bad shape with kidney trouble and seeing Doan's Kidney Pills recommended, I went to Fisher's Drug Store and got a box. In a short time I was cured and I have had no need of a kidney medicine since."

If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Chapin had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Miss Davies Speaks.

Miss Davies spoke Thursday night after holding an institute all the afternoon and part of the morning. Home Missions, Miss Davies thoroughly covered in her speech Thursday night, telling of the great work of the Wesley Houses in the large cities all over the United States, that are supported by the Home Mission Societies. She made every woman present a bit miserable, in a delicious way, over the meager help or absolutely none that they had given to the Home Mission work in America. In the Institute work Miss Davies brought out the Constitution plainly in all the departments and showed how great was the machinery of the Woman's Missionary Societies of the Methodist Church South.

The Vice Presidents.

Miss Davies gave suggestions for the work of the First Vice President. "I would rather see this office blank than to have a woman in it who will not work," declared Miss Davies. The Baby Division and Junior Division are in charge of the First Vice President and the possibilities of this office are unlimited.

The Second Vice President has the Young People's work and Miss Davies thinks that it should be carried on separately—if possible—from the Epworth League, unless it can be satisfactorily correlated, which is left to the judgment of the president of this office.

Miss Davies devoted a deal of time to the department of Third Vice President, giving points on the promotion of Christian stewardship. She said: "Women are stewards of their money, their time, their mentality, their influence, their children." Her talk on this subject was valuable indeed.

Mrs. Walter J. Piggott and Miss Davies presented the Fourth Department, including suggestions for local

WOMEN SHOULD BE PROTECTED

Against So Many Surgical Operations. How Mrs. Bethune and Mrs. Moore Escaped.

Sikeston, Mo.—"For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had headache and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."—Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

Murrayville, Ill.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a very bad case of female trouble and it made me a well woman. My health was all broken down, the doctors said I must have an operation, and I was ready to go to the hospital, but I dreaded it so that I began taking your Compound. I got along so well that I gave up the doctors and was saved from the operation."—Mrs. CHARLES MOORE, R. R. No. 3, Murrayville, Ill.

Attend Cecilian Meeting.

Mrs. Evans attended the District meeting at Cecilian Saturday and she hopes to attend several District meetings during the year. The Conference president is sincerely interested in all the departments of the missionary work and each one will be given her best attention. Mrs. Piggott and Miss Davies were with Mrs. Evans at Cecilian.

HUNTING WITH THE FALCON

Kirghiz, More Than Any Other People, Probably Carry This Sport to an Extreme.

All wanderers are lovers of the chase, but for sheer love of sport and daring exploits the Kirghiz take the palm. Central Asia is the home of falconry, which was not introduced into Europe until the crusaders brought back falcons with them from their eastern wanderings. But imagine the ambition of the men who fly their birds at wolves and foxes instead of at quails and partridges! Not content with hunting game birds with small falcons, the Kirghiz capture and train the great golden eagles, with which they hunt such game as gazelles, foxes and even wolves.

A well mounted Kirghiz falconer, carrying on his wrist one of these magnificent birds, is a fine sight. The weight of the eagle is such that the owner requires a support for his wrist, and the hunters are usually to be seen with a little wooden bracket that supports the arm against the hip. The eagles are hooded, as all falcons are, but can be used only in winter, when they are hungry and keen. In summer they are fed on marmots and live a restful life, sitting in the sun in front of the tent doors.

When gazelles or wolves are the objects of the chase the eagles are aided by long sleek greyhounds of a small breed, the dogs running in and pulling down the quarry when the eagles have sufficiently bewildered it.

Is your husband cross? An irritable, fault finding disposition is often due to a disordered stomach. A man with good digestion is nearly always good natured. A great many have been permanently cured of stomach trouble by taking Chamberlain's Tablets. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

MAN OF SAVING DISPOSITION

Wives Will Know How to Sympathize With the Unfortunate Better Half of Mr. Graball.

Old Graball is mean—really mean. He once built a house, and nearly gave himself brain fever deciding which was better—a lot of windows—which were cheaper, but needed soap and water for cleaning—or more bricks for wall space.

One day he came home and found that his wife had saved money out of his housekeeping allowance, and was repapering the dining-room. And then he started to rave.

"I don't object to the money being spent, although new paper is just extravagance when the old one has only been on seven years," he gasped, red and hoarse with rage, "but I do object to the way you have put it on. Oh, how dare you paste it on!" he finished, with a wall.

"How else could I put it on?" asked Mrs. Graball, in surprise.

"How else?" he retorted when he could speak. "Why, tack it on, of course! You don't suppose we shall live in this house for ever, do you?"

Following the Hounds.

Smith was a great cyclist, but had rarely been on a horse. One day when staying with a sporting uncle he thought he would like to follow the hounds, which were to meet near by, so he borrowed from a young relative a horse which was not much accustomed to the hunting field. At first he went steadily until the horse, being startled by a rabbit, darting from a clump of grass, broke into a mad gallop. The rider was flung forward on the horse's neck.

"What are you doing, my lad, with your arm there?" jokingly called out his uncle.

"I'm feeling for the brake," was the muffled reply, "but I can't find it."

The Love Letters of a Confederate General

WE begin in the November issue a series of real love-letters written over fifty years ago by one of our national heroes to his sweetheart during the period of '61 to '65. This great general will go down to posterity as having accomplished one of the most brilliant feats of arms in the history of the world. He was as great a lover as he was a general, therefore these letters combine authentic history and exquisite romance. They sound a human note that no other work of literature has done in a decade; it is war, it is romance, it is history, it is literature. You simply can't afford to miss this wonderful series—an inside story of the Civil War now published for the first time and containing all the freshness of a contemporary happening. These letters will grip you hard, and hold your interest from first to last. Fill out the coupon and send it now before you forget it.

PRESIDENT CHARLES C. MOORE OF THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION PRESENTING DEED TO JAPAN'S SITE TO COMMISSIONER GENERAL HARUKI YAMAWAKI.

HIS Imperial Japanese Majesty's Commissioners to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition dedicated Japan's site in the Presidio Reservation on Wednesday, Sept. 18, in the presence of more than 10,000 people. The ceremonies were highly impressive and were deeply appreciated by the representatives of the Japanese Government Commissioners, Haruki Yamawaki, Goichi Takeda and Yashikatsu Katayama. The deed to the site was presented by President Charles C. Moore to Commissioner General Yamawaki, who accepted it in behalf of the Japanese government.

POPULAR PLAY

At Shubert Masonic This Week--
Bunty Pulls the Strings -Full of Life and Wholesome Fun-- Write For Tickets.

That Louisville theatergoers are unusually anxious to see Graham Moffat's famous play, "Bunty Pulls the Strings," is indicated by the heavy advance sale. "Bunty" will be at the Shubert Masonic Theater for the entire week of November 18, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

Theatergoers take to "Bunty" as naturally as a duck takes to water. Two years ago the play was produced in London, at the Haymarket Theater. The Scotch comedy is still running in the British capital, and the indications are that its run will continue for another year at least. After "Bunty" had scored such a smashing triumph in London, Mr. William A. Brady secured the American rights and produced the play in New York. Gum-shoeing through Scotland and England, he and the author, Moffat, gathered together a notable company of players for the American production. The company was recruited mostly in Glasgow, Edinburgh and London.

Since that first performance in New York something over 6,000,000 New Yorkers have seen "Bunty Pulls the Strings." When it was seen that the New York run of the play would last many months, Mr. Brady gathered together a second all-Scotch company for Chicago. The Chicago run of the play lasting more than six months, was a repetition of what had gone before in London and New York. And now that "Bunty" is on the road, the same thing is happening in the less populous cities. The advance mail order sale is now in progress, and orders for seats when accompanied by check or money order are filled in the order of receipt. All checks should be made payable to the Shubert Masonic Theater and letters addressed to John J. Garrity, manager.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or settling, stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Last Wednesday death invaded the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nat Arms and took their oldest son, Paul. He was one of the finest boys of the neighborhood. He was loving, kind and obedient to his parents, and loved by all who knew him. He had been confined to his bed for some time with typhoid fever, but death came unexpectedly. Paul was about 18 years of age.

Baptist S. S. Convention-- County Organization Effected.

The Baptist Sunday School Convention at Irvington last Tuesday was a decided success. Eight schools in the county were represented. Secretary Leonard Leavell was there and made several instructive talks during the day and spoke at night. Pastor Jones, of the Irvington church, received a telegram late Tuesday afternoon calling him home on account of the illness of his father. This necessitated the cancelling of the engagement with Secretary Leavell to conduct an Institute and to grade the Irvington school following the convention. He will make a later date with them. He has made an engagement with the Stephensort and Hardinsburg schools to hold Institutes and to grade their schools during November. The Sunday School work in the county is taking on new life.

The three things emphasized during the Convention were: Grading the School, Teachers' Meetings and Teacher Training, and much interest was elicited in this most important work.

A bountiful basket dinner was delightfully served by the Irvington church. Their hospitable and cordial entertainment is worthy of comment.

The Breckenridge Baptist Sunday School Association was organized by the adoption of a constitution and the election of officers. The following officers were elected: President, J. B. Herndon, Irvington; vice-president, W. C. Moorman, Glen Dean; secretary-treasurer, R. O. Willis, Cloverport; elementary superintendent, Miss Beulah Payne, Bewleyville; advanced superintendent, Mrs. John Shaw, Hardinsburg; adult superintendent, Andrew Crawford, Stephensort; teacher training superintendent, E. O. Cottrell, Cloverport.

These departmental superintendents will aid the different schools and classes in the matter of grading, class organization and teacher training, as well as in matters of school equipment and departmental organization.

Those who attended the convention felt very much encouraged at the Sunday School outlook in the county.

Colored Teachers' Association Here Saturday.

The colored Teachers' Association was held here Saturday. S. E. Dean is president, and Sarah F. Witt is secretary. At night a large audience enjoyed quite an interesting lecture by Rev. J. H. McCoomer, his subject was, "Jail and Jailed Up." The following teachers were present: S. E. Dean, Rosa L. Howard, Nora C. Lyons, Anna B. Robards, Katie B. France and Solomon Dean.

Guests of Miss Carter.

Miss Julia Greenwood and Miss Margaret Greenwood, of Irvington, have been the interesting guests of their niece, Miss Margaret Carter. Miss Julia has always taken a deep concern in politics and she was disappointed not to find a Democratic rally in Cloverport Saturday. Miss Margaret's hobby is duck raising, and she has twenty beautiful ducks this year.

Wilson Fund in Our County.

The Wilson fund in Breckenridge county was $541.50, and Dr. Forrest Lightfoot added $5, and J. M. O'Brien, of McQuady, added $2.50 to the amount. This has all been spent and used to the Democratic party's good.

Daniels' Trick Show.

Daniels' trick show struck a big crowd with wonder at the Cloverport Opera House Friday night. Mr. Daniels is certainly slick and mysterious on the stage, and the tricks he played kept the audience still bound. This is the kind of show Cloverporters like—one that entertains and is clean and amusing.

Loses Eye.

News has been received here that W. R. Wilson, a former resident of this city, is in a Chicago hospital where he had an eye removed. Mr. Wilson lost his eye several years ago while firing on the L. & St. L. R'y. out of this city, and has suffered more or less with it since. His physician advised an operation to save his other eye.

WOODROW WILSON OUR NEXT PRESIDENT.

As we close all of our forms on the press tonight, everything indicates the election of that great scholar and statesman, to the Presidency of this country, the Hon. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. It will not be a surprise to the masses of the people of this country, because from the very beginning of the present campaign, such was the result predicted. With Theodore Roosevelt upon the one side, and Taft upon the other, the middle of the big road was left for the champion of Democracy, and well has he won the distinguished laurels. Woodrow Wilson will be the President for the whole people and the News is more than glad that it has had a part in the election of such an able man.

The pet theories of Mr. Roosevelt in his effort to divert a majority of the people to his plan of thinking has not availed much. It is possible, however, that he has played a good second in the race, but that is all. As for President Taft, and the Republican party, it is a thing of the past. Rent asunder, disorganized, defeated and slain, the great body of the people heretofore, both North and South, who have given it their support, will now look elsewhere for a bit of courage and hope. As has been predicted years ago, the Republican party has been simply one out for the spoils and public plunder. Its final downfall was inevitable, as the verdict of the people of yesterday declared.

Indeed the sky looks brighter today. With a Democratic President to be inaugurated next March, a wave of prosperity and confidence will sweep the entire country. Let no honest man despair. The election of yesterday settles one thing, and that is that there are yet enough good people in this great country to wrest it from the hands of the spoiler and restore it to the keeping of those who believe that public office is a public trust. Again we say, three hearty cheers for Wilson and the great Democratic party, and the good wise people of this country who again restore it to power.

We could have written three or four columns about the missionary meeting, but one's words are limited on a country press. The services made us realize how great are the opportunities to learn, to serve, to give and to be happy right here in our own town. Never have we been made to see so clearly the advantages that are here. The churches—the Methodist, the Baptist, the Presbyterian and others are doors to higher education, and best of all, lead us to that which is great and good. Men, women and children, who are in the Sunday Schools, the missionary auxiliaries, and in the societies of the young people, have possibilities undreamed of, and by work and sincere efforts may see them realized. The missionary meeting was full of down-to-earth ideas as well as inspiring thoughts and refreshings of love and faith.

Judge Mercer made a very enthusiastic speech to the Democrats at Hardinsburg last Saturday. The Judge said among other things that his first visit to Hardinsburg was in 1844. He was there at a great Democratic rally. Polk and Clay were the candidates for President. Polk was a Democrat and Clay a Whig. He said the issue before the people then was the same as it is today—the tariff. Clay was for a high tariff, and Polk for a tariff for revenue. Polk won and the people never had better times. Wilson he said will win in this campaign, and to his mind the issue was more important to the great mass of people than in that day and time. The Judge for over sixty years has been a Democrat, and has never failed in all that time to lift his voice and cast his vote for Democracy.

The Owensboro Messenger was the first paper to bring the election news to Cloverport. It reached us at five o'clock this morning, giving the returns from every State in the Nation. The Messenger is to be congratulated, and their enterprise competes with any daily in the State.

Patience and perseverance will bring prosperity to any individual, matters not, who is our president for the next four years.

To be appreciated one craves, but real satisfaction comes in knowing that one has done his level best yesterday and today.

Things will move along just the same, a little better, however since Wilson is our President.

It is just seven weeks now until Christmas. Get your Christmas advertising ready.

To Remind You

This season of the year is the time your house needs a new roof or the old one needs repairing. It is the best time to paint, to put up guttering or clean and repair the old ones to get the fall rains in your cistern, which may also need patching. To have you a new home built to eat Christmas dinner in. To make some nice concrete walks around your place. To look after your chimneys and flues and see if they are safe for the winter fires. I do all of the above, but if you prefer to do the work, let me figure with you on the material. A full and complete line of all kinds of

MANY WOMEN CARRY BANK ACCOUNTS

This bank has opened a Women's Department, that is, we are delighted to have women depositors. We know that women are better financiers than men, but they have never had an opportunity to develop their talent for saving and managing the funds of the household. Men have come first in making bank deposits and looking after the cash.

But the list of women who are taking advantage of the conveniences of banking facilities is growing and we are pleased to have our bank as their depository.

We cordially invite all women to carry their accounts with us.

CHAPTER IX.

When Miss Jackie Vining went to her room after her unsatisfactory attempt to write from Bedight the name of the unconventional young woman who walked with him in the moonlight, she was angry. And it is possible that, knowing his feelings toward her, she was angrier still because with this influence she could not secure the confession she sought. It is likewise true that she felt in her heart that Bedight was right in protecting the name of the girl and should be eulogized rather than scolded for it—and yet, when a man has almost told a woman he loves her, she has a right to expect that he will do almost anything quasi-reasonable that she asks of him. Failing to handle him augurs complications for the future.

And most of us are alike in this, that we love to appear melodramatic to ourselves, doing all sorts of drastic things that, slept over, we undo, saying things that we inflate with self at the time being and stick a pin into later when our ardor has cooled. In this mood Jackie Vining seated herself at a small writing desk in her room and indited the following letter to the chairman of the woman's clubs in Bedight's district:

"Squirrel Inn, Wis.
"My Dear Madam: The campaign in your district is about to open. Among the candidates is one Walter Bedight, who is running for the legislature. He will endeavor to secure the women's votes of the district. While running a race near Squirrel Inn he dropped from his pocket the inclosed bill, which he expects to introduce, if elected.

"I feel it my duty to apprise you of the real character of the man and trust that you will act accordingly.
"Sincerely,

"(Miss) JACKIE VINING."
Placing the letter and the bill in a long envelope, she laid the package on her dresser and retired.
But with the cool touch of the linen and the luxury of full repose, Jackie's heart smote her.

"Well, anyhow," she mused, as she dropped off to sleep, "I'll hold the letter a few days longer."

To be in the toils of a state's attorney is bad enough in any event; but

Miss Farnsworth Sat Holding Her Ankle in Both Hands.

If the aforesaid attorney is a woman, oh, most unfortunate is the man! Thursday was Mayor Bedight's day of attendance upon Margaret Farnsworth, who prosecuted the case against him on the morning of his arrival. She entered the arena after an earnest conference with "Judge" Vining, who seemed unusually distraught and worried.

"Mr. Bedight," began the lady attorney, in a professional tone, "I want to get some balsam for a pillow this morning. Do you know the tree when you see it?"

"Yes—I've been in the North Woods on many a vacation and am familiar with the flora and fauna of the country. I am at your service," responded the mayor.

They set out on foot along a path-way that led into the wood. Once inside the forest it wound in a trail like that the calf made, through spruce and hemlock, poplar and maple, with now and then a white birch adding a touch of vivid contrast to the green. The girl, an enthusiast, was walking ahead and babbling of the nature pictures along the way.

Suddenly Bedight felt something hit him in the back, as though a pellet thrown from close range. He turned inquiringly. From a clump of brush along the trail a woman's hand waved at him and a white paper fluttered to the path. Turning, the mayor retraced his steps. The messenger crouched low and Bedight, having secured the message, touched his fingers to his lips and waited for a salutation, chaste and replete with appreciation.

And then from ahead came the surprised call of Miss Farnsworth.

"Hurry!" cautioned a voice from behind the clump of greenery.

"Coming," cried Bedight, turning and forging ahead through the wood.

A pair of pheasants arose with drumming whirr from beside the path.

"There!" exclaimed the mayor, accepting the birds as the foundation for a clever ruse, "you've frightened them away."

"Oh, why didn't you tell me?" reproached the girl, getting a fleeting glance of the brown beauties as they floated off through the trees.

Bedight, with the note clutched in his hand, made reasonable apologies for his thoughtlessness and the girl, unsuspecting, led on, chattering delightedly. It was a day of days to be in the wood and youth is ever buoyant and gay. Plainly the girl was in tune with the mood of the time and the place, and like the beatitudes about her, sought to be congenial and natural. The man felt himself pleased with her, for he, too, loved the solitude and the harmonies of the forest.

Presently she sighted a scarlet tanager and ran ahead. Bedight, waiting for the opportunity, unfolded the slip of paper. In a woman's handwriting this warning was written:

"BE CAREFUL. SHE IS TRYING TO TRAP YOU."
Bedight smiled and tucked the note in his pocket.

Miss Farnsworth was sitting upon a fallen monarch of the wood when he caught up with her. In her hands she held a lichen that had taken her fancy. Of the party at Mine Host's hotel, no girl was prettier than Margaret Farnsworth and few as intellectual.

Vivacity and spirit predominated and as Bedight looked at her he did not belittle her ability to make things interesting for him.

She sprang to her feet as he drew near, and ran after a big brown butterfly. Bedight sat down on the log and waited. Suddenly he heard a scream, the voice of a woman in pain.

Miss Farnsworth sat upon the ground holding her ankle in both hands. Her lips were tightly drawn and her face gave evidence of pain.

"What is it?" questioned Bedight, apprehensively, going up to her and taking hold of her arm.

"Help me to stand," she directed, gripping his arm.

He raised her. She let her foot touch the ground, winced and toppled toward him.

"There's a wood chopper's cabin just ahead," she groaned. "Could—could you carry me there?" blushing.

For answer he picked her up in his arms. She threw her arms about his neck and clung to him, her hair brushing his cheek. In sight of the hut she whispered:

"Wait! Let me down a minute."

She stood leaning against him, her full, ripe lips teasingly near. For a moment as he looked into her fathomless eyes, Bedight felt the weakness of man for woman coming over him. To combat it, he moved farther away, supporting her at arm's length.

"It would be well to leave me at the cottage and go back for help. Look inside, please, while I lean against this birch," she directed.

"There's probably a burglar in the woodbox or a man under the bed," he said laughingly, as he started toward the cottage.

The mayor stood for a moment upon the threshold and then entered. As his form disappeared within, there appeared around the corner of the cabin a man—the game warden of Lakeville. In a twinkling he had slammed shut the door and thrown a great bar across it from without.

"There, darn ye; I told ye I'd git ye!" he bellowed with radiant pomposity.

Bedight turned angrily as the door closed and realized too late that the warning given along the trail had not safeguarded him. He was a prisoner.

Peering through the dirty window-pane, an aperture not large enough to permit the passing of a man's body,

Are You A Woman?

TAKE GARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

ne saw MISS FARNSWORTH leave the tree against which she had been leaning and walk leisurely toward the hotel.

With the realization that the girl had deliberately led him into the hands of the enemy, he gritted his teeth and then, at the thought that perhaps Jackie Vining had planned this coup de main, Bedight felt a queer sinking of certain hopes that heretofore had buoyed up a heart yearning to take high hurdles. No—a woman may keep a man in hot water on general principles of love, but to throw him in jail is treachery, and when a woman reaches that point she is like the woman scorned—a perfect fury.

The room in which Bedight found himself was big and rough like some of the words the mayor said before his sense of the ludicrous returned. Then, in full possession of the humor of the situation, he sat down on the side of the bunk and grinned. A man can grin when the joke is on him, but he seldom becomes boisterous under the circumstances unless he is in public, where it is always good taste to prove his good fellowship by blatant laughter.

That the game warden had gone for help there was no doubt. Remembering the slap which Bedight had administered on the day of their first meeting, that worthy did not desire to take further chances.

"But if Miss Vining planned the trap, why did not the warden bring enough help with him to arrest me?"

This was the question the mayor asked himself—and gave it up. He had no way of knowing that the warden had sent word to the sheriff to be on hand—but that functionary was at the moment marooned on an island five miles from the village with ample food sent by a kind providence in the light of the moon, but with no boat by which he might navigate the intervening waters.

An hour passed, during which time Bedight had satisfied himself that wood choppers' cabins in general and this one in particular were built with the express purpose of being better jails than those possessed by the ordinary hamlet in the north country. He was securely confined—and he was in to stay until some one chose to liberate him.

A voice from without suddenly gave him hope. It was a voice he knew well—the voice of Jackie Vining.

"Mr. Bedight," queried the voice, "are you there—inside the cabin?"

"No, Miss Conspirator," replied the mayor, vindictively, "I'm up on the roof playing solitaire."

"Will you tell me which of the girls was with you last night?" demanded Miss Vining. "If so, I will let you out."

"Oh, I like it in here," replied the mayor, enthusiastically. "It's a nice, quiet place, no hooks to bait, no mound builders to excavate, no run away horses to catch, no balsam to pick, nothing to do but relax and think of the perfidy of one's fellows—feminine gender."

"I'm glad you like it," responded the "Judge," with a wholesome flavor in her voice, "and I'm sorry to advise you that the warden and reinforcements are about due. Wouldn't it be wiser to help me protect a thoughtless girl and go free than to be contrary and go to jail?"

"I like the jail at Lakeville even better than this," responded the prisoner affably. "It is light and airy and has easy exits in case of fire or ennuil."

"Very well," she replied, "repent at leisure."

The mayor listened. She was going away.

"Miss Vining," she cried.

"Yes, Mr. Bedight."

"You know very well you would despise me if I told you what you are asking. I am firm in my resolve not to appear in this light. You may as well go now, for I shall not answer your question."

He watched her lithe form as she walked rapidly away, her head erect, her shoulders back, every inch a splendid woman.

Scarcely had she disappeared when Bedight heard the bar thrown back, and a voice whispered cautiously:

"Walter! Walter! The door is unbarred. Wait until I get away!"

From his dingy window Bedight saw another feminine form saunter leisurely up the trail—and this one, too, was slim and fair to look upon, a woman that any good man might well desire to win.

CHARACTER READING

By the Nose—Very Important Organ Says Hereward Carrington in McClure's Magazine For October.

The Nose.—This is a very important organ, and indicates much as to the character of its possessor. Broadly speaking, it may be said that a man or a woman possessing a large, prominent nose is progressive, original and determined, and the type of person most likely to "get ahead" in the world. Witness the great business ability and practical character of the Jew. The reverse of this naturally indicates a backward, shrinking disposition. But to these broad rules there are many exceptions and qualifications, which we must now study.

For instance, if the nose shows a tendency to shrink or become very small at the point where it leaves the forehead, (that is between the eyes), it is often a sign that lack of will power is present. When the nose leaves the forehead in one straight line, so that there is no indentation, this is a sign of a selfish disposition. Other things being equal, the more the nose rises after it leaves the forehead, the greater the degree of self will in the individual.

A straight nose indicates good judgment, artistic talents, and sensibility. If the nose is long and thin (not too thin), it indicates a tendency and taste for philosophic studies; also literary aptitude. Such a person might be a good writer of poetry or of fiction. If the nose is short and thick, it indicates a certain degree of self-esteem and confidence. This is not so notable as in the case when the nose is hooked, however. Many such persons possess a love of practical, ornamental work, such as wood-carving. Long, straight noses indicate, as a rule, a love of truth, and a character of mind which is not easily changed from its methods and habits of thought.

SCARS THAT STAY ON BODY

Though the Idea of Regular Seven Year Change Is Right, It Has Its Limitations.

There are people who tell you that everything in the body is changed every seven years, and that there is no part of it which was there seven years ago. This does not mean that we slough the whole thing off at once, as a snake does its skin or a deer its antlers, but simple that the innumerable and tiny atoms which are used up by the daily wear and tear are replaced by fresh atoms supplied by our food and drink, which keep the body going, just as coal and water keep the steam-engine at work.

But these changes are so minute and gradual that the form of the body remains the same, although such things as scars take a long time to disappear, and sometimes they remain for life, although they always lose a great deal of their prominence. You may have noticed that if you cut your finger lightly it will soon heal up and the scar presently disappear, just as the marks of a superficial burn will gradually go away; but if the cut is deep the scar remains. This is because it went down to what is called the true skin. Any cuts, stains, or burns on the outer skin are gradually pushed up and worn or washed off, just as the hair on the back of your hand wears off without your cutting it and grows again; but anything that goes down to the true skin, like tattoo marks, always remains.

TO EXPLORE AMAZON

Scientists Charter Yacht to Visit South America.

Characteristics of Country and Habits of Tribes That Live There to Be Studied for Months by Members of Expedition.

Philadelphia.—Aboard the Mermaid, a 120-foot steam yacht, the members of the University of Pennsylvania South American expedition left here for the Amazon. The yacht will voyage by way of Porto Rico, Barbados and Trinidad to Para, at the mouth of the Amazon, and will then steam up the great river into one of its upper tributaries, proceeding up the uncharted stream until the shallows check her. She will then be moored and serve as headquarters for the exploring parties, which will use the gasoline launch and canoes with which she is equipped in order to reach those points on the river which are not navigable by the yacht herself. When the observations shall have been completed in any given locality the collections will be assembled on the yacht, which will then pass on to the next tributary to be explored. Para or Manaus will serve as a base of supplies, according to the region of the Amazon basin to which the expedition directs its attention for the time being.

The main purpose of the expedition is to study the Indian tribes of the Amazon valley, which have not been studied in detail, and to collect for the university museum specimens of their arts, industries, customs and modes of life. Their songs will be recorded on the phonograph, and their dances and various activities will be reproduced by the moving-picture camera. Systematic studies will be made of the native languages, religious and social systems and decorative art. In brief, the expedition seeks to furnish as complete a record as modern methods can afford of the native life of the Amazon valley and to illustrate these studies by adequate collections assembled in the university museum.

The remoteness and seclusion of many of the tribes which will be studied is indicated by the fact that such a condition as that reported on the Putumay river can exist in the face of modern civilization and without interference from any local government.

While the study of native life forms the main object of the expedition, other aspects of exploration will not be neglected. A medical investigator will accompany the party for the purpose of studying beri-beri and other fatal diseases peculiar to the Amazon region, and the flora and fauna of the country will receive due attention.

The man selected by the museum to have charge of the expedition is Algot Lange, whose experiences in the jungles of the Amazon two years ago, when accompanying a party of rubber hunters, nearly cost him his life. With Lange will be associated an ethnologist, a naturalist, a physician and a moving-picture photographer. The physician chosen for the post is Dr. Franklin Church of New York.

No danger is anticipated from the natives, who are peaceably inclined and hospitable to strangers. In dealing with these tribes many simple gifts will be made in exchange for feather work, bows and arrows and blowguns, drums and musical instruments, decorated calabashes and pottery.

SITE SELECTING CEREMONIES OF HIS IMPERIAL JAPANESE MAJESTY'S COMMISSION TO THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

JAPAN was first of the foreign nations to select a site at America's great Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915. The extensive area which has been dedicated to the Japanese government display, five acres, will permit the adornment of the grounds surrounding the Palace of Exhibits with wonderful Japanese trees and shrubs, presenting the landscape effects that in Japan have attracted the attention of tourists and nature lovers from all parts of the world. The Palace of Exhibits will cover an acre of ground in the center of this Japanese garden. The Japanese government will spend $1,000,000.

FORCED TO LIVE THINGS UP

Just an Example of What the Resourceful Hostess Will Do When a Party Drags.

Miss Charlotte Van Cortlandt Nicoll recently gave in the surf off Long Branch a bathing tea party, a man servant wading out with a boat-shaped floating table perfectly appointed, wherefrom Miss Nicoll and her friends, in five feet of water, partook of buttered toast, caraway tea, muffins, scones and cakes.

Congratulated upon this novel party, Miss Nicoll, who is a sister of De Lancey Nicoll, smiled and said:

"I believe in the hostess who is resourceful—the hostess of Mrs. Blanc's type."

"Mrs. Blanc was giving a tea party on her yacht. The affair, for some reason, was dragging dreadfully. The guests talked of nothing but the weather, and even in this talk there would come long, deathly silences."

"Suddenly Mrs. Blanc, losing her balance, fell heavily against her mother-in-law, who sat beside the low rail, and with a moaning cry the dear old lady went headfirst overboard."

"Of course, she was rescued; but afterwards Mr. Blanc took Mrs. Blanc privately to task."

"How clumsy you were," he said, "to knock mother into the water like that. I'm afraid she won't care to visit us again in a hurry. You really should be more careful."

"Now, George," said Mrs. Blanc, "be reasonable. I had to do something. I simply had to. Didn't you see how our party was dragging?"—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

HIS LOVE BEYOND A DOUBT

Surely Impossible to Ask Further Proof After This Really Sublime Declaration.

"Do you love me?" he asked. In reply the modern young girl looked at the modern young man with eyes pervaded with emotion.

"Do I love you?" she repeated. "I do. I love you psychologically, sociologically, economically. From the psychologic standpoint, I feel that our different organisms are so nicely differentiated as to form a properly articulated area of combined consciousness. Sociologically, our individual environment has been enough in contrast to form a proper basis for a right union. Economically, I feel sure that when we come to combine we shall be able to introduce into the management of our affairs the right financial balance to produce the scientific result which every well-ordered and conducted business produces. And now, how do you love me?"

The young man reached forward. He clasped her swiftly but surely in his arms. He hugged her and kissed her alabaster cheeks and her ruby lips.

"How do I love you?" he replied. "My dear girl, I love you just as much as if you really knew what you were talking about."

Another Name for Sunlight.

Insects are often susceptible to ultra violet light (which is, of course, a component of sunlight), as experiments by L. Raybaud have recently shown, this fact perhaps explaining the aversion of some species to strong sunlight. In the rays from a mercury vapor lamp, such creatures as snails, houseflies, and tadpoles soon became torpid, and in the course of a few hours were quite dead. Young grasshoppers perished in about two days. Adult grasshoppers showed no apparent injury after a week's exposure, and spiders and beetles were unaffected.

TRAPPED, TRIES TO CUT FOOT

Man Imprisoned on Track Before Train Attempts to Use Knife on Captured Limb.

Chicago.—Caught on a railroad track like a fox in a trap, with a passenger train due in a short time, Joseph Kowanski, 51 years old, did what the animal would have done. He attempted to sever his foot.

Kowanski, a watchman in the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad yards at South Leavitt and West 43rd streets, was making his rounds at 5 o'clock in the morning when his left foot was caught in a frog.

Knowing a fast train was due in half an hour, Kowanski twisted and wrenched at the imprisoned leg, but in vain. The terrific strain broke the leg in two places. Almost unconscious from pain, Kowanski then attempted to cut off his foot with a knife.

Just as he was starting on the operation Alexander Gata, a fellow workman, happened along. He opened the switch and released Kowanski. The train passed the "trap" three minutes after Kowanski had been rescued.

ROMANCE IN MINING OF TIN

Bolivian Mountains at Present Contribute One-Fifth of the World's Supply.

While Bolivia has copper and gold and other minerals as well as silver, her greatest wealth is in tin. There is as much romance in tin mining in Bolivia as in diamond mining in South Africa and gold mining in our own country. Fortunes just as large have been made. One man who a few years ago was a prospector now has an income from his tin mines equal to that of the bonanza kings of California or the South African mining magnates. He has recently offered to build a railway line which the government itself did not feel able to undertake.

In all the world last year there were only 110,000 tons of tin produced, and to this quantity Bolivia contributed one-fifth, so the value of her tin deposits can be understood. Some of this tin is mined as high as 17,000 feet. Most of the mines, however, are worked at altitudes of less than 15,000 feet. Tin mining has thus the distinction of location at one of man's most lofty permanent dwelling places as well as beneath the bed of the sea. This opposite extreme is found in the world's oldest known tin mines in Devonshire, England.—Christian Herald.

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

HOW I COOKED A COMPANY DINNER.

By Martha McCulloch Williams. Being reasonably vain of my cooking when I go and learn new ways the next thing is to show them off. Hence, my course-dinner—paper bagged of course. Likewise, a company dinner. It would be a deadly insult to good food even to think of serving it in courses to one lone feeder.

My guests came a trifle late—by the time they had off hats and wraps I was ready to take them in the kitchen. This because of a shrewd suspicion that they thought I had been telling fairy tales—they could not conceive of real food, coming rationally cooked out of a paper bag.

My people sniffed gratefully as they entered the kitchen. Truly things were not half bad, by the smell. It was very mild—hardly more than an agreeable taint. A hot dish sat ready upon the paper covered table. I lifted out the broiler, set it beside the dish, slipped the edge of the dish well under the bag resting upon the broiler, shoved it well to the middle and opened it. Then came forth in full strength the smell of fish not rankly offensive, but inviting. Inside the bag there was halibut, a la minute—it had been cooking fifteen minutes, was done to a turn, flaky, flavorful, and literally swimming in a sauce of its own juices, mingled with those of the tomatoes covering it, the lemon that had been squeezed on it, and the butter with which it had been liberally dotted.

To go with it there were baked potatoes—baked in a bag, and mealy, without a trace of scorch. The diners vowed they had a new, a singularly fine flavor, somewhat approaching that of a roasted chestnut. They praised the fish—and ate in a way to show it deserved the praise. Still, I think they wondered a bit—was this one bagful all they were to get by way of reward for coming all the way to Harlem? They had not noted that the stove was still in commission—possibly through seeing neither pot nor pan on top of it.

But when they were graciously permitted to help take away the fish course and see the taking up of a steak, also in a bag, they evidently felt better. Especially when the potato bag yielded sweets, which had been cooked along with the white ones, and kept warm underneath, and still another bag furnished tomatoes stuffed with scraped corn. The tomatoes had cooked a little too long, and came out pretty much huddled, but good for all that. They were eaten to the last shred—the steak also looked pretty ghostly at the finish.

Since this was a bag dinner salad was conspicuously absent. Room must be left for the apple dumplings. When they came on, my dinner guests plainly suspected me of the black art. The dumplings, made ready in advance, had been bagged as the bell was ringing, popped in the oven after I had welcomed my company, and had cooked there while we ate the other things. The sauce for them, also previously prepared, had kept warm over hot water, in something covered. If anybody ever made better dumplings, it was never my luck to eat thereof. Black coffee, fruit and cigars for the gentlemen, wound up the performance. In three hours, working single handed, I set my table, cooked my dinner, having all materials in hand, read an evening paper, and even loafed a minute or two now and then. (Copyright, 1911, by the Associated Literary Press.)

PAPER BAG LUNCHEON.

By Nicholas Soyer, Chef of Brooks' Club, London.

Grille a la Indienne.—Use cold mutton, beef or veal. Slice and cut into rounds or squares. Melt a piece of butter, about the size of a large walnut, on a plate in the oven. Add a teaspoonful of Harvey's sauce, and salt to taste. Mix thoroughly, lay the meat slices in the mixture and let stand an hour. Make ready as many fried croquettes as there are meat slices, place the latter on these, and put them in a well-greased paper bag. Put on broiler, and cook for eight minutes. Serve with mashed potatoes and Portuguese sauce. To make Portuguese sauce rub a pound of ripe tomatoes through a hair sieve, put the pulp thus obtained in a clean enameled saucepan. Add pepper and salt to taste, a teaspoonful of powdered sugar, a dessert spoonful of vinegar, a teaspoonful of onion juice, or as much chopped garlic as will go on the point of a very small knife. Boil down a little, then use. Half a wineglassful of port is an immense improvement, so, too, is a bit of butter the size of a walnut.

Green Peas.—Put a pint of freshly shelled green peas, a sprig of mint, and half a pint of water into a greased paper bag, seal up, and cook for thirty-five to forty-five minutes.

Baked Bananas.—Use ripe but firm fruit. Peel, dip in melted butter, roll in sugar, put in a greased bag with the juice of a lemon to six bananas. Seal, and bake twenty minutes in a hot oven. (Copyright, 1911, by Sturgis & Walton Company.)

Cough, Cold Sore Throat

Sloan's Liniment gives quick relief for cough, cold, hoarseness, sore throat, croup, asthma, hay fever and bronchitis.

HERE'S PROOF. Mrs. ALBERT W. PRICE, of Fredonia, Kan., writes: "We use Sloan's Liniment in the family and find it an excellent relief for colds and hay fever attacks. It stops coughing and sneezing almost instantly."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

RELIEVED SORE THROAT. Mrs. L. BROWN, of Modesto, Fla., writes: "I bought one bottle of your Liniment and it did me all the good in the world. My throat was very sore, and it cured me of my trouble."

GOOD FOR COLD AND CROUP. Mrs. W. H. STRANGE, 3721 Elmwood Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes: "A little boy next door had croup. I gave the mother Sloan's Liniment to try. She gave him three drops on sugar before going to bed, and he got up without the croup in the morning."

BASKET BALL

At Cloverport High School Saturday Afternoon Exciting--- Large Crowd Sees Two Games --Young People Have Great Time.

The campus of the Cloverport High School was the scene of two exciting games of basket ball Saturday afternoon. The first was played by the Hardinsburg boys and C. H. S. fellows, the second by the Hardinsburg and Cloverport girls. The boys' game resulted in a victory for Hardinsburg, the score was 21 to 10. The second game resulted in defeat for the Hardinsburg girls, the score was 4 to 0. Prof. Forsythe and Prof. Laslie were referees. Prof. Culton coach.

The spectators were mostly enthusiastic high school pupils, however, quite a number of Hardinsburg and town people attended. The games are fine and are creating a school enthusiasm that has not been in Cloverport for years. Those who played were as follows:

Hardinsburg Team.—Reba Shepherd, Ruth Chambliss, Ruth Kincheloe, Miss Stuart, Eliza Taylor.

Cloverport Team.—Eula McCracken, Isabelle Burn, Leonora McGavock, Mary McGavock, Bertha Perkins.

Hardinsburg Boys.—Curtis, Thomas, Gibson, Driskell, Evans.

Cloverport Boys.—Jolly, Pate, Adams, Hawkins, Hall.

Chas. Chapin Dead.

Chas. Chapin, a well-known man of this county, died at his home on The Pike Sunday morning at three o'clock. His death was caused by typhoid fever. He leaves a wife, four sisters, Mrs. Frank Walker, Mrs. Chas. Compton, Mrs. Orrie Gorby, Mrs. Richard Hawkins and one brother, Eli Chapin. His age was forty-four years. The funeral was held Monday morning.

Little Girl.

The little girl who arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kiel has been christened Annie Kiel. She was named for her aunt, Mrs. C. T. McClanahan, of St. Louis.

Mr. D'Huy Dead.

F. N. D'Huy, a former citizen of Cloverport, died in Deland, Fla., last Tuesday. No particulars of his funeral have been received here. Mr. D'Huy leaves his wife, a sister of Mrs. James Cordrey, of this city, and two sons, Joe and Fred D'Huy, and one daughter, Miss Lynn D'Huy.

Mr. May Accomodating.

J. A. May, who delivers all the express and freight in town, is most careful and accomodating, and the town is glad to have such a man in the place he fills.

Mrs. Tierney's Efficiency.

Mrs. James Tierney is another one of Cloverport's efficient women—a woman who can get results. Since last December she has sold $94.81 worth of produce. Besides all this she canned fifty-three gallons of fruit this last summer. One of her neighbors said if all the women were this efficient, that the people would not need a Democratic President. Mrs. Tierney is also a dear lover of the Breckenridge News. She will stop eating any time to get to read it.

Fred Walters Estate Will Remain in the Hands of The Bank of Hardinsburg and Trust Co. as Trustee.

The Court of Appeals last week affirmed the judgment of the Breckenridge Circuit Court refusing to dissolve the trust created by the will of Fred Walters, which means that The Bank of Hardinsburg and Trust Company will continue to have charge of this estate. Claude Mercer represented The Bank of Hardinsburg and Trust Co.

A Wonderful Old Sow Near Cloverport.

E. Frank Carter, farmer, dealer in live stock, fruit and poultry, says that he has a wonderfully prolific old brood sow. October 1911, she was the mother of thirteen perfect pigs, her first litter. Five months later in March, came another thirteen, and a few days ago, came her third litter for the year, sixteen in number this time. This is why Mr. Carter thinks it pays to keep brood sows.

International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago.

Any one in Breckenridge county who has never been to Chicago, should go November 30, and attend the International Live Stock Exchange at the Union Stock Yards. It will be held until December 7. It's a big and wonderful show, and great it would be for the farmers of this county to attend.

Work of The Fourth Department of The Woman's Missionary Society

By Mrs. Walter J. Piggott, Fourth Vice President of The Louisville Conference

There has been a marvelous advance in mission work in the past ten years. The people are beginning to know that missions mean ministry to the bodies as well as the souls of men. The people are taught in the non Christian lands the value of cleanliness, sanitation and the domestic sciences. They are given vocational training in order that they may be self supporting. The same plans are carried out in the mission work in the home land.

The Southern Methodist church is developing the work of Social Service broadly through its Fourth Vice President of the missionary council. Every conference and every auxiliary has a

OBITUARY.

In the loveliness of young womanhood Mona Robertson Beauchamp was called from her short life on October 16th, to her home, we trust, where sadness caused by parting friends never comes. Mona Robertson grew to womanhood in Stephensport without a blemish on her character, and counted her friends by the number of her acquaintances.

She was married September 21, 1910, to Forest Beauchamp, a kind husband whose affection was displayed in every detail pertaining to her comfort. No expense or personal ease seemed too great a sacrifice for him in his efforts to sustain the life of his companion. The untiring devotion of the heartbroken widowed mother, whose vigils at her daughter's bedside, and the seven weeks solicitude care of infant Katherine, who survived her mother four days, presents a sad case of physical prostration, almost unable to bear her burden of grief.

Funeral service was conducted by Rev. Jones at the Baptist church in a touching tribute to the life and character, to her patience in suffering and her expressions of readiness to accept the will of her Heavenly Father.

Deceased had been a member of the Baptist church since childhood, but the bright promising bud of a useful life has been plucked by the unseen hand of our all wise Father. The last sad rites were attended by many heartfelt sympathizers with the husband and mother. One sister, Mrs. Frank Bryant, of Stephensport, survives her.

Popular Couple Wed.

Miss Sallie Marshall, of Skillman, and Mr. Ralph Swonderland, of Plymouth, Ind., will be married in Louisville next Wednesday, after which they will come to Skillman for a week's stay before going to Plymouth to reside, where the groom is a prominent and promising young business man. Miss Marshall is the beautiful and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Marshall, of Skillman, and is a most popular young lady.—Hancock Clarion.

Ernest Haswell In Brussels

This is the first time since I left Hardinsburg that I have had any home life. I enjoy being with the LaParades' whom I knew in Cincinnati. The whole bunch is congenial. I am feeling fine. Thanks to Mrs. LaParade's cooking, which is the best I ever tasted. That along with the excellent and cheap vegetables to be had in Brussels will make me fat yet!

Ernest LaParade's knowledge of the language has been of great value to us all. At the academy there are four or five people who speak English. With the rest of us it is like being in a deaf and dumb institute, but I shall soon learn enough French to get along nicely. We have met two girls from South Africa who speak very good English. Tonight we are going to see them. There are also two girls at school who have studied in Glasgow, Scotland. They learned English there. Glasgow is pronounced "glas-gow," the last syllable pronounced like "cow," spelled with a "g."

Today being Sunday the street pianos and street singers are out in full force. There is always some of them under our balcony. Here all stores and shows are kept open on Sunday. It is the big day all over the city.

Simple Services.

Utica, N. Y., November 2.—In the presence of the President, members of the Cabinet, Senate and House, diplomats, and men and women from every walk of life, final honors were paid today to James Schoolcraft Sherman, Vice President of the United States. In deference to the wishes expressed by Sherman before his death and the desire of the family, the funeral was simple and without ostentatious display. The public services in the First Presbyterian church were brief and the burial in Forrest Hill cemetery followed.

ARE YOU A SALARIED MAN?

Do you live on a certain allowance each month, or do you "have money to spare?" Do you have to figure close to make ends meet or do you waste money on idle pleasures?

In any case you cannot afford to be without a bank account. No matter how small your salary you can and SHOULD have a little here and a little there in order to provide for the future. If you spend your money foolishly, you can soon get out of the habit by depositing a little each week or each month.

Persistent saving, with the liberal interest we add, will make the account grow surprisingly fast.

$1.00 will do to start with.

New Boarding House.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell have opened a first-class boarding house at Irvington. It is a brand new ten-room house. All the furnishings are new, rooms heated by furnace, and they are large, well ventilated and clean. The table is bountifully supplied, the cooking good; in short it is an ideal place for the weary traveler to rest his weary bones.
